Fuel famine imminent in many States.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES]

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Practically all the country enjoyed moderate success.

The record-breaking cold wave, of rather succession of cold waves which have continued for almost two weeks. The improving condition, however, only accentuates the startling fact that most localities are still in a coal famine, with scant prospect for relief, inasmuch as another cold wave is due to start from the northwest tomorrow night, reaching the central West Wednesday and the Atlantic Coast and Gulf Coast country about Friday.

The rising temperature has brought heavy, sticky snow which is even harder for the railroads to combat than extreme cold weather.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES]

IOWA COAL FAMINE. Iowa, especially, is feeling the coal famine. Factories closed in Davenport today because the fuel is exhausted, and automobiles crossed the Mississippi River on the ice at that point for the first time. All coal has been used up in the Industrial school for girls at Oskaloosa, Ia., and the 49 inmates are shivering around small wood-burners.

Arrival of snowbound trains in Kansas points disclosed the death of six persons from exposure and three children dead in Kentucky of cold and snow. There were numerous other cases at various points, according to tonight's dispatches, of persons freezing to death.

Chicago's coal supply is down to the bottom of the bin and great economy must be practiced until the supply can be renewed.

There is still plenty of cold weather in the country, shown by the temperature tonight, all below zero. Charles City, Iowa, 12; Duluth, Minn., 22; Moorhead, Minn., 26; St. Paul, 22; Detroit, Mich., 4; Madison, Wis., 4. The Canadian stations show moderation, ranging from 20 deg. above at Montreal to 32 deg. below at Prince Rupert. Montreal made a dip from two below at daylight this morning.

THE ONLY REFUGEE.

The North Pacific Coast seems the only refuge offering security from the chilling blasts. The southeastern Gulf Coast country is not recovering very rapidly from its icy bath. Tampa, Fla., has 50 above, 22 deg. colder than New Orleans; New Orleans has 42 above. Jacksonville, 44; and Atlanta, 45. North and South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, and neighboring States have experienced unusually severe weather. In the central portion of the country, Chicago has 2 above, and Cincinnati 4 above zero. Indianapolis has 3 above, the same temperature at St. Louis, while Detroit and Milwaukee are 4 below.

Calgary, Canada, the Canadian Northwest, reports an unusually sharp temperature from the zero mark this morning, to 40 above at 8 o'clock tonight. This is probably due to one of the "val-pockets" which caused portions of Chicago to experience 16 below.

REFERENCE TO LETTER.

That Mrs. Tingley was interested in remodeling a house on Mrs. Thurston's property, 111th property, which place was to be turned into a spiritualistic headquarters for the use of Mrs. Mary Hartman, was maintained by Leake during his examination after the admission of the foundation letter. Hartman, to whom the work referred, is charged by the contestant's attorney, exercised influence over the testatrix for a number of years.

MRS. TINGLEY AS CRITIC.

He said Mrs. Tingley inspected the place and when asked what the theosophical leader had to say about it, said:

"Mrs. Tingley criticized the place and was not pleased with the kitchen, saying it was a shame to waste so much room in a kitchen."

"Did you receive any instructions about changing the plans?" the witness asked.

"Yes, Mrs. Patterson gave me instructions," Leake answered.

"Did you make any changes?"

"Did you submit the plans to Mrs. Patterson?"

"I don't recall."

More the witness explained that at

The Middle West and Southwest seem to have promise of more temporary relief, as the night temperatures in all that territory showed a disposition to rise, and no storms are in sight. BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN DIEGO, Jan. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The eleventh day of the Harriet P. Thurston will contest dawned in Judge W. R. Guy's court this morning. A letter written from Tent Village, Point Loma, by Mrs. Thurston to Theodore N. Leake, an eastern architect, was introduced as evidence of persons prominent in the country and their wives and diplomatic service were mentioned.

Leake is a witness for George L. Patterson, the contestants, and identified the letter as one written by Mrs. Thurston and received by him.

In two places words had been scratched with pen and ink.

Leake was asked why the parts had been mutilated. He said he considered them to be private.

By the side of the trial, Leake, attorney read the words that had been scratched. They were:

"So, you will see, the maid is being up in family connections with her master," and "Julie thinks she would like him for a stepfather, but I am not of her opinion."

THE FIRST WORDS.

Regarding the first words which Leake attempted to keep secret the reporter explained that the person referred to was Hazel, a student in Point Loma, cousin of Oscar Mills, the New York banker, and also a cousin of Ambassador Whitelaw Reid's wife, who was a Mills.

REPEATS TALE OF HIS LIFE.

Lorimer Relates Story of His Early Hardships.

Turned on Hopkins, He Says, Because Faithless.

Voice Trembles When Telling of His Mother.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES
WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Senator Lorimer of Illinois, in his testimony today before the Senate Investigating Committee, was dramatic in the extreme. He told the story of his life, not quite in the way he told it in his speech in the senate, and with many graphic details.

Wheeling boots at the age of 10, he supported a widowed mother and five brothers and sisters; then a cash boy, a laborer, a wheeling coal, a house painter, a street car conductor, and a soldier, he continued with the successive steps he details in his progress to his present position as president of a National Bank. He traced his way in politics from a Constable to a seat in the United States Senate.

The man under fire was the coolest in the room while he told the story. His voice was unshaken, except when he spoke of his mother—two years dead.

A political sensation came when he declared that the faithlessness of former Senator George W. Norris and former Senator Albert J. Hopkins defected from their former Gov. Yates in the primary contest with Deeney, the present senator.

"After that I was convinced that Hopkins had turned on his friends," Lorimer said, "and I treated him as though he treated any other man who tried to do him a friend."

"Why did Charles A. White vote for you as Senator?" was one of the questions asked today.

WHITE VOLUNTEERED.

White is the former member of the Illinois legislature who made a famous speech of his, published in a Chicago newspaper, formed the foundation of the inquiry into Senator Lorimer's election.

"He came to me and volunteered his services," Senator Lorimer replied.

"It was about ten days before my election. I didn't solicit his vote, he was a strict, cold conductor, and had been a strict, cold fellow-riding among street car men in Chicago."

"Although most of them are Democrats, whenever I have been running for Congress they have received 99 per cent of their votes."

"Did White suggest he ought to have something for his vote?"

"He never mentioned such a thing."

The story of his life was given in response to a question by Senator Jones.

"I was a bootblack and newsboy," he said. "I was successful until the fire of 1874, the second fire,

DIVINE AS A MOONSHINER.

BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES
NASHVILLE, Jan. 15.—The Rev. Joseph E. Smith of Sewanee has been bound over to Federal Court on the charge of making "moonshine" whisky. At a preliminary hearing, Federal Commissioner W. H. Smith, who was the minister for several months, was minister for several months, was minister for three small churches near Sewanee. His "whisky" still was located in the smokehouse, a few yards from the front door, a quarter of a mile from his principal church. The house, destroyed by the officers, was complete, and nearly one hundred gallons of good, beer and mash were found.

He recently expressed his desire to be candidate for mayor, but he fears something will happen to him before he will be able to take No. 12, he asks the County Auditor to release his blank No. 113.

WEDDING IN DEATH.

BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 15.—Members of the wedding corps No. 1 answered an averthat wiped out most of my customers. When I was about 13 years old I worked for a sign painter, then for a tailor, then for a laundry. My mother asked me to stop blacking boots, and I went to work as a collector for a laundry. In the meantime I worked in a coal yard one winter wheeling coal."

NO TIME FOR SCHOOL.

"Did you not go to school?" Senator Gambel asked.

"My father had a theory it was time enough for a child to go to school at the age of 18, but he died when I was 16. I then began to work so late I couldn't go to school at night, but my Sunday-school teacher used to help me some. I used to study a book in the laundry, and my mother helped me too."

After that I worked two years as a laborer in a meat packing house and I learned the canning business from end to end of the state."

The Senator showed some pride in telling of that achievement.

"The fire of 1874 was pretty hard on me. My mother had a little money saved and hidden away in the bottom of an old wooden trunk and we lost that when we were driven out."

"I worked a winter trucking hides and wheeling salt down in a cellar for Armour & Company. Later I worked where I could, and then I became a conductor, and three years later I got a job as a car conductor. Later I went into business as a house painter."

"Just then my estate began to boom and I invested a little money and went into the business. I got a job in the water department. After Senator Bertolti of the United States gunboat Yorktown, had directed the reorganization of the situation in Ecuador, where the revolution had already threatened American interests."

Dispatches from the department from Consul-General Dierich today confirmed reports of severe fighting around Huancayo, from which Capt. Bertolti of the United States gunboat Yorktown, had directed the reorganization of the situation in Ecuador, where the revolution had already threatened American interests."

Hans Schumann-Heink, son of the famous diva, who is to sue William Rapp, her youthful husband, for divorce, rejoiced today over the separation, for he admitted it meant that he and his brothers could now abandon work which they dislike, and resume their studies.

"Here I am, a singer with a future, working in a department store, doing work I don't like, just because an American boy is good enough to make me think that his Almighty God isn't the Alpha and Omega of existence."

"Word of my mother's plan to help us to get a relief to us. We have all of us been kept in a sort of bondage—one an insurance agent, I am a jewelry repairer, one of my other brothers a reporter in a Northern newspaper—just because Mr. Rapp doesn't appreciate this article."

"Now, everything is going to be different. I'll make Rapp turn green with envy, perhaps, but mother will probably turn blue; her fountain pen and write more checks than you could ever imagine in your life."

PASADENA, Jan. 16.—Hundreds of Pasadenaans yesterday went to the corner of Washington street and Fair Oaks avenue to view the ruins of the Pasadena Hotel that was gutted by fire last Saturday night. A fire was started by a burglar standing partially intact. The remainder of the building is nothing but a charred ruin. The lower part of some of the walls are standing but the structure is practically a total wreck.

Some of the furniture was carried from the building and saved. However, the greater part of the contents, both those owned by the proprietors of the hotel and those owned by guests, were destroyed.

The police maintained a guard about the building yesterday, and the firemen rested after one of the hardest fires they ever had.

Chief Clifford of the Fire Department stated last night that in his estimation, the department did a good work to save this little it did a good work to save the building.

The State Board of Agriculture also granted Prof. Cook's request that any part might be destroyed before the dock was reached.

A special session of the Legislature recently amended the law as to the fire protection of the Assembly in 90 minutes and the Senate in five minutes.

The Pomona Woman's Club met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Owen, No. 375 East Piedmont street. Mrs. John G. Robertson had charge of the programme and opened with a discussion on "Early California History."

The Pomona Valley Ice Company is building a new cold storage warehouse 89x11 feet and two stories with a capacity of sixty cars of fruit.

TWEITMOE AND LAWLER.

Man Under Indictment Makes Charge Against Special Federal Prosecutor.

FRESNO, Jan. 15.—In his annual report to the California Building Trades Council this afternoon, Secretary-Treasurer O. A. Tweitmoe declared that United States Prosecutor Oscar Lawler at Los Angeles had attempted last December to induce Tweitmoe and other labor leaders to implicate Samuel Gompers in the McNamee case under promise of immunity from prosecution, "and other consideration." Tweitmoe declared that Lawler wanted to have them say that Gompers knew in advance of the trial that the McNamears were guilty.

This was the only startling feature of the Tweitmoe statement which had not been forecast. It was received with applause, and apparently the officers of the council will be supported by the members in the defense of the writer in the present Los Angeles proceedings. Tweitmoe has not yet asked for official endorsement from the council.

The reading of the report, which took about three hours, concluded the work of the afternoon. Adjournment then took place preparatory to committee work tonight and the submission of local reports to the council tomorrow. The greater number of the delegates are spending the evening at the annual meeting of the Building Trades Council, which has been transformed into a reception to the out-of-town men.

The only issue of importance that now is engaging the delegates is the three-dimensional project for the next convention, in which San Jose leads because of its consistent support of the central McCarthy organization. Stockton delegates are reputed to be an ardent supporters of the ticket, and may the strength shown by the officers will insure their re-election without opposition. The Bakersfield delegation, which is also after the convention, is being careful to raise no other issue.

There has been discussion of the proposed demand of the Sacramento delegation for a refund of their convention fees. McNamee has no defense fund, but the only money in which this can come before the council will be in the county report tomorrow, and with the present temper of the council, no action will be taken upon it.

Delegates from the west, who have been added to by the announcement of a grand ball to be given by the Spanish War veterans on Wednesday evening in honor of the visitors.

Highway and water works of Arizona, California, chased $4000 worth of equipment and will start drilling within a short time.

The field has been visited by oil ex-the surface prospects indicate a very large and permanent field.

In this vicinity, near the Big Rocky Mountain, Col. W. F. Cody, known as Buffalo Bill, has travelled heavily. On his last visit to Arizona he said that surface indications are everything that could be expected for over an area of at least several square miles. Nearly all pro-

The well is of the heaviest type, designed for deep work.

P. L. Griffin, a California oil operator, has secured 1000 acres of patented land and has ordered a drilling rig from Los Angeles. Before the end of the month it is expected that work will have been started on three wells around Camp

Wingspanch. Due to the fact that the ground in which the well is situated has been brought in by two different sets of tucos and talus. Oil Company has began drilling operations sixteen miles west of Tucson, and will not return until the title of the land is settled. The well is now down 520 feet and has a diameter of 10 inches.
The company has spent about $1000 on the enterprise and has produced water by piping from Pantano and has a distance of 10 miles.
It is believed that they have no desire to improve the situation and that they therefore release any of their claims upon which any corporation may wish to work.

CHAMBER MUSIC.
Los Angeles is so fortunate as to have two remarkable stringed orchestras. The city can now boast chamber music of a quality to be heard only in New York or Berlin.

NEGOTIATIONS.
Concluding that they could expect no customary relief, the jewelers of Chicago have taken steps to make terms with burglars who have been looting their property. It might have been cheaper had they made terms with the police.

SHOULD BE LABELED.
Another primitive man has been added to the group of the affiliated Colleges Museum of San Francisco. We would suggest that, as this collection of wild men increases, the professors of the institution wear badges of some kind to distinguish them from the aborigines.

INFORMATION WANTED.
Astronomers at the Lowell Observatory say that recent changes on the canal of Mars indicate great industry on the part of the inhabitants of that luminous planet. Yes, yes, to be sure, but will the astronomers not indulge us a step further and tell us what we bought the Martian bonds.

INGRATITUDE.
A Tacoma woman is suing her neighbor for $5,000 damages for having enticed her husband away from herself and her children. If the claimant could only realize her indebtedness to the defendant she would throw in a considerable premium for having the rascal taken off her hands.

A MOTIVE REVEALED.
A large clock has been stolen from the rear of a local church and officers are looking for the thief. We suspect that he will never be captured, and that the clock will be returned. We think, however, that this time the clock will be placed well up toward the pulpit so that the congregation can see how long the minister has been on the job.

A BAD JOB.
A foolish Pennsylvanian who wanted to live like a millionaire for a day did not spend his day with frugality and thrifit as a real millionaire would have done, but wasted his substance in riotous living as the real millionaire seldom does. At the end of the twenty-four hours he was poorer by $2500, whereas the genuine article would have finished with his $2500 and something to boot.

CONTRAST.
Down at the beach Sunday, when the sunny surf was full of laughing people and thousands lounged comfortably upon the hot sands, it was announced that the Hudson River is solidly frozen. We imagine that the hardship of this winter in the East will mean an addition of many thousands to the population of Los Angeles within the next twelve months.

A SHINING EXAMPLE.
Senator Lorimer testifies that the legislators who gave him his present seat were all friends of his boyhood. If a man wants to be President of the United States he must have himself born and reared on an Ohio farm, but if he merely aspires to be a Senator he has only to be kind to his boy friends. We are grateful to have this much light shed by the Lorimer investigation. We had begun to fear that nothing good was coming out of the process.

LORD KITCHENER'S ARABIC.
Lord Kitchener is making a great success as British Plenipotentiary of Egypt. The principal cause of his influence with the natives is his complete knowledge of the Arabic language which he speaks and writes as fluently as English. In early life Lord Kitchener studied Arabic and when young afterwards became commander-in-chief of the Egyptian army his perfect command of the native language caused the Egyptians to confide in him and enabled him to gain advantages for England such as could not otherwise have been achieved.

FACTORS WHICH MAKE PRICES.

A leading factor in the increased cost of living is the high price of meat. In the last ten years the population of this country has increased 20 per cent, while the number of cattle, sheep and hogs has increased only 10 per cent.

Many of the cattle ranges west of the Missouri River, and especially in the Rocky Mountain and intermountain ranges, were, by dry farming and the raising of durum wheat, transferred to the plow and the number of cattle and sheep raised was greatly diminished. The advance in the price of corn increased the cost of raising hogs and to an extent lessened the number raised.

A new factor which is likely to still further increase the cost of meat is the pending destruction of the great Chicago packing trust. This combination fixed the price paid to the farmer for cattle and, as a rule, the farmer could not find a purchaser outside of the trust.

The trust in turn, while extracting all that the traffic would bear, was wise enough to fix prices low enough to close the small slaughter-houses in the cities.

With the meat trust destroyed, the farmer will receive higher prices for his cattle and the consumer will probably pay a still higher price for meat, for the law of supply and demand is a despotic law and there is no escape from its operations.

HARBOR BONDS.
It is a condition and not a theory that confronts Los Angeles. The sale and purchase of bonds of municipalities throughout the United States is in the hands of a New York syndicate. This syndicate refuses to purchase or to recommend the purchase of bonds of this city issued to complete the Owens River Aqueduct and provide a distributing plant for the 100,000 horse-power that its completion will create. The reason given for the refusal is that the syndicate now holds the bonds of the light, power and tramway companies of this city, and that those bonds will be lessened in value if the city shall establish a light and power distribution in competition with corporations now engaged in that business. It follows that the city will be obliged either to raise the money needed by popular subscription or make terms with existing light and power companies either for the acquisition of their properties or a sale to them of the electrical energy that will be generated by the aqueduct.

The syndicate also refuses to handle the harbor improvement bonds. Not for analogous reasons, for there are no interests that will be injuriously affected by affording deep-water ship facilities for landing at San Pedro. The refusal to handle the harbor bonds is, so to speak, sympathetic in its character.

The sale of the aqueduct bonds can, without injury to Los Angeles, be postponed for a time. But the necessity for the sale of the harbor improvement bonds is pressing and immediate. Unless we can dispose of these bonds San Pedro harbor cannot be completed, and unless it shall be completed within the next eighteen months the benefits accruing from the completion of the canal will be diminished. If not lost.

Is there not wealth enough and public spirit enough in Los Angeles to provide the money for the purchase of the harbor-improvement bonds? The security is not only ample in itself, but the use to which the money would be put would increase real estate values twenty times the amount of the bonds, and the additional value that would be imparted to the assessment rolls would furnish an annual revenue more than sufficient to pay the interest and provide a sinking fund for the redemption of the canal.

A subscription paper might be started by which each subscriber would pledge himself to take and pay for a given amount of the bonds, either absolutely or conditional upon certain sum being subscribed by responsible persons within a time named.

Who will start the ball rolling?

CIVILIZATION OFFSPRING OF LAW, BARBARISM OF ANARCHY.

That is a queer situation in Spain, overthrowing the ministry of that country. The condition is very similar to that of two years ago, resulting in the downfall of the Maura Cabinet. This latter event followed the execution of Dr. Ferrer. The former, resulting in the resignation of Premier Canalejas, grows out of the proposed execution of more than a dozen men guilty of homicide in a riot. The execution of Dr. Ferrer made the throne of Spain totter for a while, and no doubt that is why the Prime Minister has advised the King to commute the sentences passed upon the men found guilty of murder in the present instance.

There is always room for questioning the necessity and wisdom of capital punishment in any given instance, but there is still more room to question the wisdom of doing away absolutely with this means of punishment. Outside of this realm of doubt there is no hesitation whatever in coming to the conclusion that law must be upheld and enforced. If civilization is to persist, and that, if popular clamor is to do away with or even radically modify the action of courts in enforcing the laws, whether in Spain or elsewhere, this anarchy is sure to result in the destruction of civilization and the reintroduction in its place of barbarism.

We may leave the Spanish situation to be handled by the people of Spain. It interests us particularly because of conditions running along parallel lines here among ourselves.

We have before us a brochure, weird in its general make-up and wild in many of its utterances, the keynote of which is very much akin to the popular clamor that has caused the resignation of the Spanish ministry. The publication we are speaking of is from the red-ink pen of one Frank E. Wolfe, until recently a newspaper man in Los Angeles.

Mr. Wolfe's screed is directly about the arrest of the McNamara brothers. It bears the title of "Capitalism's Conspiracy in California." The argument running through it from one end to another is that the McNamara brothers were innocent, doves clear of all wrongdoing, and that their arrest in the East and transportation to California was an act of high-handed tyranny carried out through the illegal operation of kidnaping.

The utterances that crowd page after page of this little book are as surely incendiary to the last degree as the laws of the land will permit. It is illustrated with portraits of many members of organized labor and of the agents of the law who have arrested them and prosecuted them.

This publication saw the light too soon. Its utterances are too absolutely sure forehand of the innocence of the men charged with murder and of the guilt of the alleged kidnapers. We concede the absolute propriety, without any reservation, mental or otherwise, of the legal adage that all men shall be presumed to be innocent until they are proved guilty. That is a very different thing from proclaiming in such positive terms the innocence of every person arrested for crime. It is very different from this in the case against courts of law, prosecuting attorneys, or even against detectives. These are all parts of our legal system on which our civilization must be based.

If Mr. Wolfe does not wish he had been a little more reserved in his utterances and that he had even delayed them in any form, we can only say that he ought to do so.

As for the McNamara brothers, they were before the court on trial for their offenses, when at a critical phase in the proceedings they broke down and voluntarily confessed all that was charged against them. As for the detective through whose activity they were arrested and brought to Los Angeles for trial, he had been acquitted by the courts in Indiana and complimented for the work he did and for the way he did it.

The trust in turn, while extracting all that the traffic would bear, was wise enough to fix prices low enough to close the small slaughter-houses in the cities.

With the meat trust destroyed, the farmer will receive higher prices for his cattle and the consumer will probably pay a still higher price for meat, for the law of supply and demand is a despotic law and there is no escape from its operations.

There are but few members of labor

An Expensive Proposition.

BIG AMERICAN BUSINESS.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

This year two hundred million dollars' worth of American products and manufactures have been sold abroad by just three of our big corporations. The Standard Oil Company ..... $96,000,000. United States Steel Corporation ..... $5,000,000. International Harvester Company ..... 45,000,000.

Total ..... $100,000,000.

That is certainly big American business and shows what can be done by aggregation of capital. A vast army of workmen, dealers, salesmen, etc., to say nothing of the other army of stockholders, benefited by these operations.

The total value of all American merchandise exports during the eleven months ended November 30 last was $1,387,000,000, or $47,000,000 more than enough to pay for all our imports. In addition we sent abroad $26,000,000 in gold and $55,000,000 in silver, a total of $95,000,000 more.

The total value of all American coal will reach a total of from $45,000,000 to $49,000,000 tons, by far the largest coal production for any country in the world. If the wage agreements which expire April 1, 1912, are renewed, the 1912 output will be still larger. Increased use of oil as fuel does not decrease the country's demand for coal. Like Sir Rowland Hill's penny postage in Great Britain, as we see in this country, with regard to coal, the more we use the more we import. The greater the provision of fuel or other products of all kinds, the greater the production.

Nineteen hundred and eleven, says the United States Geological Survey, brings us a value of twenty millions in gold from Alaska or, in the one year, nearly three times as much as we paid Russia for the entire 550,000 square miles of territory in 1868. Since 1880 Alaska has given us a million dollars worth of $200,000 or two trains times as much as the Terrible cost us originally. Of this vast return $155,000,000 has been in gold and $31,000,000 in copper, with lots of gold, lots of copper and a vast store of untouched coal yet. That's big American business beyond all question.

Our magnesite production is increasing and California is the only producer, a value of $74,000,000 for 1911.

These come asphaltic road oil with a production worth $2,307,937, an increase of nearly $700,000 for the year; and Portland cement, 76,549,951 barrels (a good deal of it California), a gain of 11,600,000 barrels.

In six years the Steel Corporation alone has shipped to foreign countries $35,000,000 worth of its products; and in ten years the Standard Oil Company has sent abroad $725,000,000 worth of its output. That cannot be discounted for big American business by only one of our many industrial concerns. In its forty-one years of life the latter concern has exported (including this year) $2,000,000,000 worth of oil.

American coal exports have trebled in value in the last twelve years. This year their value is $80,000,000, or $15,000,000 more than in 1910, says the Bureau of Statistics. O. P. Austin cited. We rank now the third exporting coal country in the world (we are by long odds first in consumption), being only exceeded in coal exports by England and Germany. France has only increased her coal exports from $4,250,000 to $8,332,000 in ten years. Our coal exports have grown far more rapidly than those of England, Germany or France. Canada is our best customer for coal.

In the ten months ended October 31 last our trade in British territory largely exceeded a billion dollars in value, namely, $753,000,000 exports and $352,000,000 imports, a total of $1,142,000,000. For every dollar's worth of British goods bought by us we sold British territory almost two dollars' worth. That's going some in big American business. Here is how our 1911 sales line up (chiefly):

Ten months 1911.
United Kingdom ..... $415,000,000
Canada ..... 249,000,000

(One hundred per cent gain in 6 years without reciprocity.)

Australasia and New Zealand ..... 40,000,000

British Africa ..... 13,000,000

British West Indies ..... 10,000,000

British India ..... 9,000,000

Hongkong ..... 7,000,000

New Zealand ..... 4,000,000

More value in American clay products ever says the Survey, namely, $170,112,974 in 1910 calendar year, towards which California contributed almost $5,000,000, though little was expected of her in this line. Ohio led with $31,000,000, followed by Pennsylvania with $22,000,000. All good business.

American stone production in 1910 smashed all records—$76,520,534 worth, a gain of $4,000,000 in one year, and $5,000,000 in the one year. California contributed $4,222,000 worth in 1910.

California's gold-dredging out last year had a value of $7,552,254, a gain of $185,000 in the year.

The Peninsular's new car order is for 24,000 cars, requiring a consumption of 300,000 tons of steel. For every 100,000 tons of rails we sell, British goods buy us $100,000 worth. That's going some in big American business. Here is how our 1911 sales line up (chiefly):

Ten months 1911.

American savings deposits average high, $430,000 per account, than those of any other country in the world (even thirty France) and total $4,212,582,582, belonging to 9,754,647 depositors—this being a very satisfactory net result of the good wages paid by big American business.

HANDS.

[Thomas L. Munson in January Lippincott's:] Hands are going out. There was a time when they were used for various purposes. Money is a measure of values even as a yardstick is a measure of cloth. How was the 20 cents charged for the breakfast service in aiding to excavate an irrigating ditch? The society had found it necessary to follow the ways of the coming civilization if it had abandoned to the extent of fixing a money value on everything, for money is a measure of values even as a yardstick is a measure of cloth.

Mr. Munson's hands are a part of his principal occupation. He had been trained to the simple life, and his past consisted of buttered toast, soft-boiled eggs and a pint of milk. The breakfast was accented as a part of his remuneration for services in aiding to excavate an irrigating ditch. The society had found it necessary to follow the ways of the coming civilization if it had abandoned to the extent of fixing a money value on everything, for money is a measure of values even as a yardstick is a measure of cloth.

Mr. Munson's

SOCIETY

A N INTERESTING romance culminated Sunday when pretty Miss Mattie Bell Tifford Pettit, daughter of John W. Pettit and granddaughter of the late William B. Pettit of Kentucky, became the bride of Arthur Edward Baileman of this city, the service having been read at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. A. H. Bailey on No. 2312 South Grand Avenue.

The bride's family is one of the oldest and most distinguished in the southern State, while the groom is a well-known contractor of this city. The wedding was a quiet affair, the bride having returned to this city with her mother for the winter. A rapid courtship followed, with the quiet wedding as a climax.

Around the World.

Reports of the marriage are received weekly from society folk who are traveling around the world. Mr. and Mrs. Wilton J. Hole have been visiting in the Delhi where they are enjoying one of their most delightful outings. The trip from Calcutta to Delhi was made in a private car reserved for Ansgar, our only lady passenger, alongside Mr. and Mrs. Hole, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bayly, Mrs. G. H. Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goodrich, Miss

Miss Florence Fern, to Robert Mitchell, an attorney of this city. The service was read Wednesday, December 27.

Violet Luncheon.

Mrs. Otto C. Valentine, Jr. of No. 2859 Denker avenue, entertained for a violet luncheon, Friday, having as guests Mrs. E. R. Wolcott, Mrs. H. E. Dillon, Mrs. M. C. McPherson, Charles L. Eginton, Mrs. Henry Bohman, Mrs. Ralph Mattpison, Mrs. Arthur E. Magro, Mrs. John E. Crouch and Miss Mabel Crouch.

Club Party.

Members of the Westlake Bridge Club enjoyed a recent reception of the Homemakers of the Westlake Hotel. Prizes fell to Mrs. Phillip Colby and Mrs. J. A. Justice. The afternoon was shared by Mrs. W. Ex-Judge Wm. McDonald, formerly a member of the Superior bench of Washington, who is conducting a series of evangelistic services in this city.

EX-JUDGE AN EVANGELIST.

Former Member of Washington Superior Bench to Conduct Series of Revival Services Here.

Ex-Judge Wm. McDonald, who became a member of the Superior bench of Washington for six years, will hold one of a series of revival services in the Gospel Tabernacle, No. 1706 Hope street, this evening at 7:30 o'clock and every afternoon except Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30 o'clock.

McDonald is an ordained minister of the World's Christian Missionary Association, and remained here for a year with general offices at Shenandoah, Iowa, for the purpose of engaging in the work of evangelizing the world.

Four years ago, while in Spokane, he was a solo singer and pianist for recording the human voice, for the first time. It seemed to him that a divine voice spoke to him, he says, and told him he was called upon to take up a new life and make a new record.

Since being in evangelistic work

McDonald has traveled extensively through the Middle West and as far East as Milwaukee. Newsagents counts of his addresses rank him among the best evangelists of the day.

PETTY THIEVES FLOCK IN.

All Manner of Articles Stolen Here, from an Automobile to an Ingored Watch.

As the weather in the East grows in severity, driving a horde of unemployed to this city and the Pacific Coast, the number of petty robberies and crimes with which the police have to cope is increasing. There was a long list reported to the detectives yesterday, the stolen articles ranging from a 1912 model auto to an Ingored watch.

Mrs. J. Fogel of No. 1808 New Hampshire street went visiting. When she returned she found her house had been ransacked. A diamond ring was missing.

When Woodward & Cother of No. 550 West Pico street opened their store yesterday morning they found 250 dollars and 55 cigarettes gone. Each transaction had been effected through the rear door.

Robertson produced a hole in the front window of Y. Tulevitz's store at No. 112 South Los Angeles street and took a gun, an opera glass, several watches and other jewelry.

Flanigan Case Goes Over to Permanent Bondsmen to Find Fugitives From Justice.

When the name of David W. Flanigan was called in Justice Summerfield's court yesterday afternoon for preliminary examination on a charge of felony, there was a moment of doubt as to whether the defendant in the county's division of the County Recorder's office is a fugitive from justice.

The ordinary proceeding would have been to declare his bonds forfeited, but on motion of Deputy District Attorney J. W. McElroy, the court adjourned for seven weeks.

"His bondsmen expect to be able to produce him by that time," Joss explained to the court. They think they have obtained close to the price of the amount of Flanigan's bond, as it is worth $2500 to them to produce him. They are spending money to get hold of him. Incidentally, the bondsmen of Florence W. Cole, who is being held on a $2500 bond, are very anxious to discover her and they are understood to have joined with the Flanigan's bondsmen in the search.

Dr. Summerfield, ex-attorney general, D. B. Sutherland of Glendale, are bondsmen to the extent of $2500 on the two felony charges against Flanigan, and his attorney, Sheldon Rosen and D. C. Cole are in the sum of $1500. Mrs. Cole, who is charged with contributing to the delinquency of Flanigan to ward his wife and family.

WILL Joe Rivers ever get married? There have been stories from time to time that the aviator met the girl he was to marry, flying without permission, and that they were merely securing a certain percentage of the receipts, but nevertheless, according to their statements, the Wrights demanded that they pay a round sum of $100 per day, each, during the meet.

When Parmalee and Turpin first left the plant of the Wright brothers at Dayton, Ohio, they were required to deposit with the company $200 each for the machines they were using. When the difficulty arose in Los Angeles both men wired the Wrights to send for their machines as they, Parmalee and Turpin, were threatening to sue the Wrights, who would demand the return of their deposits.

According to the story told by the two aviators the Wrights wired the two men that they would be required to pay $100 per day during the meet.

As it will be too short a time in which to secure new machines the two men will not be able to earn the money to pay the demanded royalty but both say that never again will they fly under the colors of the famous inventors of the aeroplane.

Yesterday there was a secret between Dick Ferris, leader of the meet and Calbraith Rodgers, the man who first crossed the American continent in an aeroplane.

Rodgers, who is a singer at Dominguez, California, told his biplane operator putting his name to a contract to fly at the meet and despite the urging of Ferris, Rodgers had delayed upon one pretext or the other. Yesterday Ferris informed Rodgers that unless he had signed an entry blank by noon today he would have his biplane removed from Dominguez Field and would close the hangar to him.

The latter part of this week will see the famous aviators from all over the country arrive in Los Angeles for the big meet. Lincoln Beachy is en route to New Orleans and should be in Los Angeles Thursday afternoon.

Hillary Beachy, a brother of the more famous aviator, is also en route to Los Angeles where he will be with his brother. They stopped in San Francisco yesterday for a visit with Bud Mars, the aviator.

Harry Kearney of St. Louis, one of the well known aviators of the Middle West, has been here for a week and that his machine had been forwarded by express to this city. Ferris states that Kearney is not an expert in bi-planes during the last year and that he will be the strong feature of the show.

Albert Elton of Youngstown, Ohio, has been operating an aeroplane at various stations, mostly during the recent summer, is now en route to Los Angeles. His entry was made by Dick Ferris, Saturday. Elton is flying a Curtiss machine and has sent a telegram to the show, asking for a place to stay.

Miss Blanche Stuart Scott, the brilliant "bird-woman" who is to appear at the Dominguez meet made her first ascension since coming to Los Angeles yesterday when she borrowed a Curtiss machine and gaily flew away across the fields.

Since the arrival in Los Angeles of Miss Scott she has for one reason and the other delayed her ascension. There were times when she expressed the fear that the young lady could not operate a bi-plane sufficiently well to leave the ground alone.

Miss Scott confided in Martin and he finally handed his machine to the irate young lady and helped her into the pilot's seat of his big Curtiss machine.

There was a whirl and cloud of dust as the big machine swooshed smoothly across the turf for a hundred feet and arose gracefully in the air and with the hangars on the ground waving their hats. Miss Scott, however, was not to be put off by the course several times and landed in front of the hangar as lightly as a feather.

The Giants will play the 11th off in Philadelphia, and the Boston Braves will play their initial contest in Brooklyn. In the American League the openings will find the World's Champion Athletics clashing with the Yankees in New York, while the Red Sox will open at the opening of the season.

The Highlanders, in addition to having the world's champions for an attraction on opening day, also will play New York on Memorial Day.

On the 15th the Indians will be at home, the Browns at St. Louis, the White Sox at Chicago, and the Red Sox at Boston.

Clark Griffin's Washington Nationals will open at the Red Sox in the opening at Boston.

The Highlanders, in addition to having the world's champions for an attraction on opening day, also will play New York on Memorial Day.

As usual, the Indians will play each of the other three western clubs as a holiday attraction. St. Louis will probably be in the Steel City on Memorial Day, Chicago on the Fourth of July and Cincinnati on Labor Day.

MOUNTAIN LION
PREYS ON DEER.

The Blood-Loving Creatures Roam in This County.

Stealthily Leap Upon the Unsuspecting Victims.

Best Method to Hunt Beautiful Feline Is With Dogs.

BY GEORGE BLISS CULVER.
No other animal has been the subject of so many thrilling campfire tales as the variously named panther, mountain lion or puma. It is the one creature of the mountains concerning which romance and fact still find a common inspiration for the wonderful unpublished stories of the great mountain country.

Its savage coat, linking the present with the past, the old with the new, for it is the great famous feline of North America, hunted and feared by our forefathers as it is by us today.

The statement of forest rangers, published last year at the height of the deer season, that the bounty paid out to incite the mountain lion to attack the unfortunate bison to stimulate the hunters and mountainers to undertake the difficult task of hunting out and slaying the mountain lion.

The rangers declared that the panthers were killing so many fawns as to threaten seriously the deer supply of our adjacent mountains. It was the hope that the offer of bounty would stimulate the hunters and mountainers to undertake the difficult task of hunting out and slaying the mountain lion.

INDIAN PANTHER KILLED.

Unlike the African lion or the tiger, the panther is arboreal, clinging about in high branched trees with the ease and agility of the house cat. It is this habit—the ability to spring from the air as it were—that enables the panther to leap himself upon the shoulders of his victim, before the slightest warning of his fatal presence is given.

Sometimes the panther seems to kill only for the fun of killing, with no apparent appetite, except for the warm blood of his victim. In the Mount Whitney country I once came upon a bison which had been killed more than twenty had been killed the day before.

The herder declared that it was the work of a single mountain lion.

Frequently after making its kill of a sheep, the panther will eat its fill and then drag away and partially cover the remains of the carcass. Such coils seem to be the natural instinct of the beast, that the mountain lion cannot resist, and many an upland cult has escaped the hunter because of this natural instinct.

It is apparent from the evidence at hand that the panther destroys deer by waiting for them at some quiet spring and stealthily leaping upon them to kill them. It has been said that the mountain lion can leap over a log and strike them down as they go so from the local feeding ground or water hole.

Mountain lions are strictly carnivorous and will eat only meat. They are sometimes found to be fat, but the only way to settle the matter, however, is to cut them open.

"Jokes," said Hap, "well, let me tell you kids we got some indoor players on this little old club of mine. Burrell, Kane, Hap and Brashears have all played the game, and made good. You know, you get this stuff about a joke."

Well, after this, a game was the only way to settle the matter, however, and the arrangement was made that he should be allowed to play Eddie Maier in the outdoors. Eddie has a great rep as a hitter at the game, and was the best player in the spilling the beans for the sides.

The guards and all worked up over the game, and will begin their game at once, as they would rather play than not. The game will go to war, and this is where the situation ends for the time being.

MARKED IMPROVEMENT.

Los Angeles High School Basket-ball Squad Scores Victories in First Tryouts.

Under the careful coaching of Mr. Westerhoven, the quintette of goal-tossers in the High School are gradually rounding into shape. They have not played many important games, but have managed to win all they have played, which is of some credit in itself.

With only one veteran on the squad, it has been all uphill work from the beginning and the boys and coach deserve a good deal of credit for the showing they have made thus far. The team is still in the making, and the coach is doing his best to make it a good team.

The next game is scheduled with Hollywood High School to take place this coming Friday, and the following week they will go up against Occidental.

Mr. Kidder and Horrie have been playing the forward places and in the last two games have shown up well.

Mr. Kidder, especially in the Manual Arts game, was able to hit the basket and make any position on the court.

Mr. Davies and McGovern are fighting it out for center with the former a little in the lead. Several men have played in the guard position, and the coach has not made a selection. Those having played are Cal, Cross, Stretch, Nelson and Malone.

MKT. WILSON HILL CLIMB SCHEDULED FOR MAY 1.

Del Jeffries, father of the Mr. Wilson hill climb, has come to life once more, as the time for the annual ascent into the heights draws near. The race this season will be held on the first of May and instead of starting at the foot of the Mt. Wilson trail, will begin at the Chamber of Commerce in Sierra Madre. The change in the course will make the race about three-quarters of a mile longer.

Mr. Jeffries wants to see all the men who expect to enter the race in the season in the near future with William Hodges.

KLAUS GETS DECISION OVER JIMMY HOWARD

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.), Jan. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Jimmy Howard of Chicago and Frank Kiana of Pittsburgh went six fast rounds here to night and the night on popular demand, won the race to Klaus. In the second round Howard was knocked down and all took the count.

In the remaining rounds, however, he worried Klaus, landing freely, lightly on the Pittsburgher. Klaus was never in distress throughout the bout.

One of the greatest difficulties with Klaus in his fight was to keep them from injuring their bodies on the hard floor, in their rather rough play.

The best specimens I have ever seen were cared for in this manner by the United States government at Washington, D. C. No food was given them and the men had the ailments of captive animals arising from over-feeding. Good fresh water is as essential as food.

WOLGAST GETS HIS MERCER BLUE BABY AND IS READY.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

AD WOLGAST's car is here. He took his first ride in the handsome Mercer "Blue Baby" yesterday afternoon. It is a real racer, good for at least seventy miles an hour. Ad has the speed fast right, with a bee in his bonnet bursting in such lively fashion that it would not surprise me if he would break all records on Spring street from First to Seventh almost any afternoon.

The Mercer is a new 1912 model, having been all uphill work from the beginning and the boys and coach deserve a good deal of credit for the showing they have made thus far. The team is still in the making, and the coach is doing his best to make it a good team.

The champion's plan of campaign is mapped out. He cannot enter the ring for at least six months. In the meantime, however, he will not pre-empt any position on the coast.

Ad and Klaus are fighting it out for center with the former a little in the lead. Several men have played in the guard position, and the coach has not made a selection. Those having played are Cal, Cross, Stretch, Nelson and Malone.

DE WITT VAN COURT'S COLUMN.

Our lightweight championship contest will surely be an interesting one but there is a clause attached to it that will cause some difficulty unless the referee can make a decision at the end of the ten rounds that the boxer has agreed to. The agreement is, that if the boxer cannot give a decision at the end of ten rounds he has the option of ordering as many extra rounds as he deems best to decide the bout.

That here is where the trouble is likely to happen. Suppose that the boxer is unable to render a decision after ten rounds. We can see him in a awful howl, not knowing how the fight goes. Each combatant will have his friends that think he may be the winner.

It will be a terrible situation to render a decision after ten rounds. We can see him in a awful howl, not knowing how the fight goes. Each combatant will have his friends that think he may be the winner.

Levy is a young man, but for one of his age has a remarkable knowledge of old fighters and is putting it to good use at the present time. He has won many in the young promising fellows that are in the game from doing too much in their younger days, and does not propose to allow Rivers to go the same way.

Whittier College has awakened from its lethargy, as far as track is concerned, and is putting out a great number of cinder-diggers this year. At the last conference meet the only man to win a point for them was Big Remmert, and the remmertites are thus deprived of their title.

However, the Quakers are not without hopes, and will endeavor to spring a surprise on the bigger brethren in the conference meet.

Garford Pilot Ready.

Novel Exhibit Planned for Big Auto Show When Transcontinental Car Will Be Seen.

One of the sights at the coming automobile show in New York will be a mud-stained, travel-marked car that has helped make automobile history by performing the office of pilot car to the first transcontinental tour ever made in this country. The car is a forty-horse-power, seven-passenger Garford.

Garford is one of the 1912 cars, while the fact of finishing the long trip in perfect mechanical condition is enough to excite comment in its position as a pioneer in the rapidly-developing field of public transportation.

Garford has made a great deal of progress in the last two fights. The progress he has made in the last two fights is really remarkable. Levy is an observing fellow and is quick to see the progress of things. If he does not land Joe Rivers a champion inside of the next three years I will miss my guess.

Rivers and Levy have formed a sort of a combination to work for each other. Rivers remarked only a few weeks ago that all he wanted out of the fighting game was to make enough to live on, while Levy, Rivers has higher ambitions and Levy is shooting them along.

Levy has from the start been trying to drum the idea into Joe's head that there is a lot to be gained by becoming a clever boxer than a fighter.

Rivers from the start was always inclined to mix things whenever the chance offered. But as soon as he saw that he was beaten, he turned to that kind of work, and the progress he has made in his last two fights is really remarkable. Levy is an observing fellow and is quick to see the progress of things. If he does not land Joe Rivers a champion inside of the next three years I will miss my guess.

A series of pictures taken on route are even more eloquent than words in showing what difficulties were encountered in the trip from New York and Los Angeles. The pilot car was only one of four cars of the same type and model and in spite of conditions of roads and weather that residents along the entire trail to San Francisco much worse than usual the tour was finished on schedule time.

Through "gumbo" roads in Kansas, mud and water, drifts in Colorado, through sandy deserts in New Mexico and Arizona and over rocky highways in Old Mexico, the Garford "forty" led the way. And though of course its sides were not as shiny nor its paint as fresh when the tour was reached as when the start was made, the engine was running as smoothly as when it left the factory and an hour with a hose removed almost all of the traces of the ocean-to-ocean trip.

A. L. Garford, president of the Garford Company of Elvira, O., who was in Los Angeles when the tour ended, said that the car had not been touched by a toucher since the pilot car to be touched along the other cars were immediately put in touring service between Los Angeles and San Francisco. Instead, he ordered that the car should just as it reached its journey's end and in this condition it will be shown at both the New York and Chicago shows.

Well, this is confirmed in our next issue. John G. Mitchell, president of the Orange County Automobile Association, is interested in all kinds of road stunts the wire was sent straight to him.

The trip will cost several thousand dollars but who will pay the bill for damages to the drug store which amounted to $200?

Before the Cadillac could proceed on its tour of the West, the car was presented by the Sheriff of Yuma, who shock to both of the men. That Bill will look ugly in the expense account of the trip but it represents a sum more than the cost of the equipment which Bill Rivers is to wear.
